MAENNERCHOR MASK BALL

Notable Social Event Among the German-American Residents.

Many Costumes Conspicuous for Their Beauty and Originality -Some of the Unique and Picturesque Characters.

The grand mask ball given last night by the Indianapelis Mannercher was a notable event in the history of that popular organization. The affair was in capable hands. The committee on arrangements, Messrs. Fred J. Mack, Charles Adam and J. Mayer, started out with the intention that this event should eclipse all past social occasions, and the result justified their determination. The hall was handsomely decorated for the occasion. Flags and emblems in lavish profusion decorated the walls. Potted plants were located at frequent and convenient intervals, and beautiful and manycolored festoons stretched from the chandelier to the four corners of the room.

At half past 9 o'clock the orchestra played a march and the merry maskers appeared from the dressing-room below. Their appearance was greeted with loud applause from the five or six hundred spectators who occupied every foot of the seating and standing capacity. The dancers in mask numbered not less than a hundred couples. There were lords and ladies, peasant girls, flower girls, cowboys, brigands, negroes, Chinese, Japanese, baseball-players, jockeys, card girls, nuns, clowns and every variety of costume representing every class and condition from royalty to seridom.

The grand-march was led by the floor who may have been inspired with artistic ideas from Mr. Russell's exposition can further the development by a visit to us and a view of the riches in Art Decoration which we constantly display. And they who would begin at the beginning can find here an opportunity.

The grand march was led by the floor committee, composed of Messrs. R. Mueller, J. Burkhard, W. Leppert and H. L. Dittmer, accompanied by Mrs. Burkhard, Miss Minor, Miss Lydia Jose and Miss Bertha Pfafflin. These led the way for a good quarter of an hour through intricate figures and mazes. At a given signal the orchestra broke into a waltz, and from then until 2:30 o'clock this morning, polka, schottische, waltz and quadrille rapidly alternated, with brief intervals for refreshments, Beissenherz's orchestra rendered mest excellent music for the occasion. most excellent music for the occasion. Many of the costumes were conspicuous for their beauty and originality. Misses Rosa Miller, Laura and Clara Steffen, Emma Fahrbach and Tillie Smith, with the first named as leader, represented a detachment of the Salvation Army. All were arrayed in pink dominoes and equipped with musical instruments, and at frequent intervals they regaled those present with popular melodies.

A feature that attracted much attention

A feature that attracted much attention was a group of graceful young ladies, attired in black elaborately trimmed in tinsel, representing harlequins. Among these were Misses Lydia Jose, Phenie Adams, Alma Schmidt, Mrs. Ryer, Mrs. Steinmiller Alma Schmidt, Mrs. Ryer, Mrs. Steinmiller and Mrs. Bertermann.

A group of darkies, out for a very loud time and gorgeous in plug hats, canes, big watch-chains, gigantic dice, razors, calico and lace, was well personated by Charles Off. Charles Adams, Louis Adams, E. Steinhiller, G. Ryer and H. Jose, the last three being in female costume

There was also a delegation representing the Oklahoma Mænnerchor, come to attend the Sængerfest. They were broad-brimmed black hats, their hair was long and un-

Other notable personations were Miss Lena Ricker, flower girl; Miss Rosa Bauer, Japanese girl; Miss Laura Hatton, infant; Miss Agnes Birk, tambourine girl; Miss Carrie Kruger, sixteenth century maid; Miss Mollie Bennerscheidt, deck of cards; Carl Bennerscheidt, Irishman; Otto Frey, north pole expedition; Ed. Andregg, English dude; Herman Kaulla, Chinee; G. Neubacker, domino, etc., etc.

Among the prominent citizens present with their families were G. Ricker, Carl Barus, B. Hessling, A. Bennerscheidt, August Kuhn, Herman Leiber, Robert Kipp, Dr. Bell, Joseph Emminger and many others.

NEW BREWERY FINISHED.

Beer Will Begin to Flow in the Vats of the Home in a Short Time.

The big brewery of the Home Brewing Company, located at the corner of Pine street and the Panhandle tracks, is approaching completion. The building is up and the machinery is being placed in position. The new brewery will be a model of convenience, and the arrangements for storing and handling are such as to do away with all unnecessary labor. The capacity is forty thousand barrels a year, which is greater than Maus's or Leiber's, and second only to the Schmidt brewery, which has a capacity of from lifty to sixty thousand barrels. The board of directors of the new industry is composed of August Hook, August Kuhn, Andrew Hagan, Albert Kopp and Albert Minter. August Hook, who was for many years brew-Hook, who was for many years brew-master of the Schmidt brewery, is president. The amount invested in the new plant is $200,000. Beer will commence to flow from the vats in about sixty days.

PIECEWORK SYSTEM.

Machinists' Executive Board Likely to Be Called Together in This City.

The Machinists' Union had its regular meeting last night and initiated six new members. Applications for as many more were received. Communications were read from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the painters and decorators, the freight handlers and several other trades and labor unions, offering moral and financial help to the strikers from the Panhandle shops. J. J. Lamb was present and made an address. He had intended to return to his home on the midnight train, but deferred the trip until be can hear from the executive board. The strikers insisted on his remaining. It is now thought the entire board will be summoned to this city before final action is taken. The agitation over the piece-work system bids fair to make the subject a prominent one before the national con-vention of the union, which meets in Chicago in May.

Was Not Newcomb's Baby. The statement of policeman Breen's theory in yesterday's Journal about the baby found on Illinois street did injustice to Mr A. S. Newcomb, Mr. Newcomb engaged a room there for his wife, child and himself. But after moving there found no gas in the horse and had to move to warmer quarters. They have been boarding at Mr. A. G. Griffith's, and board there yet. Mr. W. S. Stemer, the other name on the card, is his partner in business. They are backed by reputable citizens, and can furnish references. The statement made by Mrs. Wheeler, Mr. Newcomb says, is false to the word, and can be proven so. They can be found at No. 169 North Mississippi with Duke Shepard, an employe at the Sisters of the Good Shepnerd, fell down a ladder leading into the coal-cellar yesterday, and suffered numerous and painful injuries. Powers & Blackwell's ambulance conveyed him to St. Vincent's Hospital, where his wounds were given attention by Dr. Suthiff and Dr. Earp. Both bones of one lower leg and several ribs were broken, and four cuts were received in the scalp. The patient is about lifty years of age.

Went After Another Convention, Secretary Fortune, of the Commercial Club, returned from St. Louis yesterday forenoon, whither he went to say a good word before the People's party in behalf of Store." 27 North Pennsylvania street securing the national convention for Indianapolis. He laughed at the story printed by the St. Louis papers to the effect that he promised the committee $75,000 if it would send the convention to Indianapolis. Mr. Fortune told the members of the committee all about the beauties and advantages of this city as a convention town, and why the People's party should by all means send the big meeting here. He promised nothing but fair and liberal treatment and that Indianapolis merchants are not robbers.

SNEAK-THIEVES BUSY.

Number of Small Thefts Reported to the Police Yesterday.

Petty threving is on the increase. William Seelers, of No. 246 Indiana avenue, reports that his room was entered and some Caligraph type-writer was stolen from his office. F. E. Gregory has lost a bicycle by theft. Johnson & Carter are out a new thirty-six-foot painters' extension ladder. William Duran, sixteen years of age, is under arrest for boldly loading new iron into his spring wagon at the railroad shop in West Indianapolis and carrying it off. Lorenzo Dearman, a hasher at a Market-street restaurant, was arrested by Sergeant Mefford for stealing $2 from the cashier's desk. He says he was drunk when he did it.

AMUSEMENTS.

A very large audience greeted the Ken-dals last night at the Grand in their favorite play, "The Ironmaster." This is an English adaptation, in four acts, by A. W. Pinero, of George Ohnet's "Le Maitre des Forges." It is heavier in tone than the bill of the previous evening, having fewer strains of comedy, and giving opportunities for the finished acting so notable with Mr. and Mrs. Kendal. The strength of the play and of the roles sustained by Mr. and Mrs. Kendal only served to bring out more clearly the weakness of the support. The quality of the cast, these two roles excepted, was not up to the grade expected in such a company. The bill to-night will be Tom Taylor's "Still Waters Run Deep."

Miss Rosina Vokes's engagement will begin at the Grand to-morrow night, there gin at the Grand to-morrow night, there at each. This will afford Miss Vokes an opportunity to display that versatility for which she is so noted, and will give Mr. for which she is so noted, and will give Mr.

Praise for an Indianapolis Minister. The Chicago Daily Herald of a recent date contains a dispatch from Fond du Lac, Wis., concerning a former Indianapolis minister, as follows: "Rev. John Baltzly came here from Indianapolis in 1890, and is the best representative of modern thought. He is a native of Wooster, O., and was graduated at Springfield, in the Buckeye State. His first pastoral work was at Indianapolis, in the English Lutheran Church. In time he seemed to find his most congenial place with the Presbyterians, and since then he has labored with them. Since coming here, if one may be pardoned for saying it, he has rather stirred the spirit in these calm shades. Now and then he launches a thought that shakes established notions and thrills the brethren with a pleasurable feeling of novelty. He is not unorthodox, but a student and a thinker, a brave and able man, on whose lips gospel beauties grow articulate. Out of large information in every department of theology, literature and experience he is a condensed thinker. His sermons are crystals of thought. He does nothing for effect, yet everything is effective. He is one more stone in the new Fond du Lac." native of Wooster, O., and was graduated Christian Endeavor Services. The Christian Endeavor service at the Central Christian Church last evening was opened by a service of prayer and song. conducted by Miss Carman. An earnest sermon was delivered by Rev. Charles M. Sharpe, of the Fourth Christian Church. To-morrow night will not be the last meeting, as announced in one of the evening papers, but it will probably be the last time that the Endeavorers of this city will have a chance of hearing Dr. Hunter, who will deliver the sermon. Thursday night the societies will meet with their local churches, coming together again Friday night for another service at Central Christian Church. The public generally is most cordially invited to these services.

INDIANA LUMBER - DEALERS

Eighth Annual Meeting of the State Association at the Board of Trade.

New Members Taken In, Papers Read and Officers Elected-Traveling Men Organize-Banquet at the Grand in the Evening.

The eighth annual meeting of the Retail Lumber-dealers' Association of the State convened at the Board of Trade at 10 A. M. yesterday, with nearly one hundred dealers in attendance. The object of the organization, the members say, is not for the clothing stolen. O. R. Olsen reports that a purpose of controlling prices in any way, but to prevent wholesalers celling lumber direct to consumers in the retail dealers' territory, thus confining the trade to its legitimate channels. Secretary Allen's report reviewed the work of the past year, showing the association to be in a prosperons condition. At the morning session twenty-five new members were added, and the prospects are that the growth of the association during the coming year will be exceedingly large. Several changes in the constitution and by-laws, which were suggested by the secretary, were adopted by the association.

Papers were read by E. T. Parker and G. W. Eicholtz, the former giving a few "Hints to Traveling Men" and the latter responding with "Hints to Retail Dealers."

Both papers contained valuable suggestions to the classes to which they were addressed, and were carefully listened to by dressed, and were carefully listened to by those present.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, H. T. Bennett, Indianapolis; vice-president, Geo. E. Springer, Anderson; secretary and treasurer, W. B. Allen, Indianapolis. Directors—H. T. Bennett, George E. Springer, W. B. Allen, J. R. Dunlap, E. T. Parker, M. Meyers, S. P. Stroup, John M. Kirby, W. F. Stillwell, Austin Ready, E. P. Deming. The board of directors held a meeting immediately after the adjournment of the afternoon session, at which time President Bennett, Vice-president Springer and Secretary Allen were selected as delegates to represent the Indiana association at the next meeting of the United Association of Lumberman, to be held at Kansas City, being four performances, with three plays | Lumberman, to be held at Kansas City, Mo., in December next. This latter associations is made up of all the lumber organizations of the country, and at its meetings representative lumbermen from all sections During the day the traveling men who cover this territory met together and organized an association having for its object the promotion of friendly intercourse in the fraternity of traveling salesmen who represent the lumber and sash and door interests of the State. The membership starts out with forty, and when there are 150 members it is proposed to include a beneficiary feature. The name of the association is the Central Association of the Traveling Lumber, Sash and Door Salesmen. The officers are: President, L. L. Barth, Chicago; vice-president, E. C. Groesbeck, Grand Rapids; secretary, M. L. Brown, Indianapolis; treasurer, H. R. Green, Chicago; trustees, J. L. Peck, Indianapolis; J. S. Wright, Michigan; C. L. Barnett, Indiana; J. A. ELEVATOR WRECKED.

Pier Gives Way, Floors Collapse, and 40,000 Bushels of Oats Are Spilled.

Yesterday morning when the employes of Elevator D, on Virginia avenue at the viaduct, went to work, they discovered to their horror that the interior of the building had collapsed at some time during the night, dumping 40,000 bushels of oats into the muddy cellar, and causing a loss of between $2,000 and $3,000, as some of the oats will be damaged.

The cause of the collapse is supposed to go back to the building of the viaduct. The building of the retaining-wall and cutting off of the sewer has forced the water which formerly ran down Virgiana avenue into the cellar of the elevator, where it has stood at times, during the winter, eighteen inches deep. This has undermined the foundations of the structure to such an extent that the central pier crumbled and sank down under the weight, leaving the floor without support. Fortunately nobody was in the building at the time of the collapse and strangely enough nobody in the vicinity heard the crash.

W. L. Higgins, owner of the elevator, has a $20,000 damage suit pending against the city and the Union Railway Company for the building of the viaduct, which is now on trial. Yesterday the jury was taken down to view the wreck.

JIBOOSE

"Jiboose" and "Mugwump" are terms that will figure during the coming campaign. A "Jiboose," according to the New York Sun, is a Democrat who is too good to vote for anybody but Mr. Cleveland. A "Mugwump" is a man who votes against his party.
